WOMAN'S CLUB

Interesting Meeting Saturday—Miss Dye's Valuable Lecture

The Woman's Club held a most interesting and instructive open meeting in the Christian Church Saturday afternoon and was largely attended.

Miss Dye, the lecturer on this occasion was introduced by Mrs. Stanley Reed in a few well-chosen and appropriate words.

Miss Charity Dye is a Mason countess by birth, but left here in 1872. She has however, made several visits to her native health. She was no stranger in our midst, for old friends of her school days were present to give her a cordial welcome.

Miss Dye's lecture on "Moral Influence Through Literature" no doubt threw a new light on the study of literature for many of us. She gave so many examples worthy of character study from biography and history especially characters which if studied in our schools, will elevate and uplift. Not only do we find characters in history and biography which have been handed down to us that are worthy of emulation, but there are many characters of our own day and time to be studied by our school children.

Miss Dye spoke of the parent and teacher association and how much greater and more unselfish is the teacher who can love and discipline fifty children as though they were all her own, than the parent who can love only her own.

Miss Dye tells that repetition is the thing needed. If a child hears the same thing at home, at Church, in school and on the street they will be convinced of its truth.

We are told that there are three books open to all to read—Book of God, Book of Life and Book of Nature, and every one should study these three books.

ROSA WATSON,
Secretary Woman's Club.

ELIMINATION OF T. R.

From Progressive-Republican
Ranks Discussed By Leaders

DES MOINES, IOWA, November 10.—An important political conference, touching the future of the Republican party, was held at the Des Moines Club today, the conferees being Governor Hadley of Missouri and United States Senators Kenyon and Cummins of Iowa.

The plans which these men discussed and briefly outlined, it is reported, contemplate the elimination of Col. Roosevelt from Progressive-Republican ranks. In fact, they will take it for granted that Roosevelt already has eliminated himself and purposes to proceed with his third party in 1916.

The PUBLIC LEDGER will pay $100 in gold to The Lexington Herald, the Dover News or the Cynthiana Democrat, if they will prove that there is a single empty market basket in this country which is the result of Republican policies or the Protective Tariff.

As we said before the election: There are no empty market baskets now except those made empty by drunkenness, misfortune or Democratic policies.

If the average man were to throw away all the keys he doesn't need he would carry around a good deal less iron in his pocket.

The Topeka State Journal notes that a Kansas farmer is clearing between $8,000 and $10,000 a year with alfalfa on an original investment of $2,000 and remarks that if a big corporation was making profits in like proportion, wouldn't there be a tremendous outcry against the predatory rich?

THIS MEANS YOU, MISTER.

A man down in Arkansas crawled into a hollow log to get out of the rain. The thunder rolled, the rain poured down in torrents, the log swelled up until the poor fellow was unable to move. Face to face with a cruel death he began to think upon his sins. Finally he recalled that he had not paid for his weekly newspaper, which made him feel so small that he crawled out through a knothole.—Monroe County (Mo.) News.

THE G. O. P. A LIVELY CORPSE.

The New York World prints signed statements ridiculing the idea that the Republican party is dead. Among them are these:

Mount Kisco, N. Y., November 7.—I do not think the Republican party is dead any more than the Democratic party was dead when Bryan was repeatedly defeated.

The Republican and Progressive parties are not likely to differ in regard to definite humanitarian proposals that come within the scope of practicability. In my judgment the division of the Republicans in this campaign was more the result of conflicting personalities than of irreconcilable differences in policy.

Even in this very unlikely event the Republican party, come what may, will survive as long as the American people are true to the great principles upon which our republic is founded. Loss of power is often a refining experience. I, therefore, look for the gradual elimination of the influences that have made the present breach in the Republican party. I look for the ultimate reunion of its broken parts and I look for many more victories to be won under its banner.

SETH LOW.

Topeka, Kans., November 7.—The Republican party is not dead. It will come back in two and four years from now stronger than ever. A party with such a splendid history could not be wiped out of existence by one defeat. Within two years the people will fully realize how much they owe to the Republican party and to the Republican policies.

CHARLES CURTIS.

Pittsburgh, Pa., November 7.—When the time comes to elect congressmen two years hence, I think you will be convinced that the Republican party is a very lively corpse.

GEORGE T. OLIVER, U. S. Senator.

That the increase in the cost of living is world-wide is again illustrated in a consular report from Jerusalem, where the present scale of wages is very low. It is estimated that the general increase in the cost of living in the "Holy City" in the past ten years has been at least 50 per cent., and there have been no wage increases.

At the recent international commercial congress in Boston, C. H. Canby, of Chicago, contended that the "high cost of living" was due to higher standards of living rather than to change in prices. The prices on staples fluctuate but little, he said, but it costs more for people to live because they no longer have the thrift and economy of their ancestors. There is much force in this view, but it did not please some of the free traders present, and two of them urged "universal free trade" as a solution of the problem. There is little doubt that universal free trade would, at least for a time, reduce the cost of living for some people, but it would also diminish employment and wages and consumptive demand, lower the standard of living, and impair the value and security of investments. Not many people who have any common sense will endorse the suggested quack remedy.

THE JUDICIAL RECALL.

At the recent meeting of American Bar Association, in Milwaukee, Henry D. Estabrook, New York, after asserting that judicial recall was being urged by "one-eyed leaders of the blind," said:

"It is proposed to recall a judge from his high office to obscurity or disgrace whenever he decides a case, not necessarily contrary to the law, but contrary to what a number of people in his vicinity regard as a law. It is proposed that a clique of voters may set in motion the vast and expensive machinery of an election for this purpose whenever and as often as they see fit. It is proposed that the issue shall be determined, not by a majority vote of all eligible electors, who are perhaps indifferent to the proceeding, but by a majority of those actually voting on the particular issue and who are passionately alive to it. Here is an exemplification of trial by jury that transcends all idea of law or justice; where the judge himself is prisoner at the bar, accused of no crime nor of anything in particular without benefit of counsel or power to summon witnesses—not even to be confronted by his accusers. It is a distasteful, cowardly, cruel contrivance that would make the iniquity of the inquisition almost respectable by comparison."

Teddy carried one precinct in this county, the untried Republican precinct of Maysville, getting three votes more than Wilson and Taft combined. #### SLUMP

In Kentucky Vote Appears to Have Hit the Democrats Heaviest

Joint Loose Somewhere in State Machinery

Cromwell's Dispatch to The Enquirer.

LEXINGTON, KY., November 9th.—Kentuckians who are forming the line to the pie counter at Washington are trying to kid themselves, one another and everybody in general into the belief that the Democracy of the Commonwealth used a steam shovel in handing the majority of popular suffrage that put the state's 13 electoral votes into President-elect Wilson's pile, but the fellow who has kept count of the returns of Tuesday's election knows it was a wheelbarrow they had and there was no heaping load in that.

Though there was known disaffection in the Democratic ranks for some time after the defeat of Speaker Champ Clark by Governor Wilson for the nomination at Baltimore, it was believed by the Democratic leaders that the breach has been healed to such an extent that Campaign Chairman Johnson N. Camden last Saturday announced from headquarters in Louisville that his forecast was for a total vote of 465,000. He figured that Taft would be second man on the ticket and that he would get 116,000 votes. He did not forecast an estimate of the Roosevelt strength, but announced that the Democratic majority over Taft and Roosevelt would be 33,000.

Now the questions are: Who were the stay-at-home Democrats? What was the chief cause of the disaffection? Could they have been agriculturists undecided in their minds as to the safety of Wilson, and unwilling to vote for Taft, though believing in part the scare stuff that his campaign managers put out under the caption, "Back to Taft and Prosperity?"

Were they all so in the belief that William Jennings Bryan had swayed the Baltimore Convention to turn down Clark for Wilson? Was it that they were prejudiced against Wilson because of his reputed views on the subject of religion and immigration? If none of these causes, what was it that kept them at Frankfort?

The unofficial returns give the aggregate of the vote at approximately 441,705. Of these 215,867 are credited to Wilson, 169,526 to Taft, 101,372 to Roosevelt, and 15,000 to Debs, Chaifin and others. This shows a decrease of 48,922 in the total vote compared with that of the presidential election in 1908 which was 490,687, and an increase of only 6,149 over the total vote in the gubernatorial race of 1911, which was 455,616.

In 1908 Bryan's plurality over Taft in this state was 8,881, and in 1911 Governor Ve-creary, Democrat, carried the state by 31,335 over O'Rear, a Republican, with announced progressive views. The Wilson plurality over

Put a Ten-Dollar Bill

In an old stocking and keep it there for twenty years. Then take it out and see what you will have. Put a ten dollar bill in our savings department at 3% interest and keep it there for twenty years. Then take it out and you will have $18.10. It's the difference between hoarding and saving. Men have made millions by saving. No man has ever made a penny by hoarding.

UNION TRUST & SAVINGS CO.
MAYSVILLE, KY.

Taft is approximately 106,000, and over Roosevelt approximately 114,000, but this majority over Taft and Roosevelt combined is only about 5,000.

The slump appears to have been heaviest in the Democratic column and forces the conclusion that the division in the Republican household was a fortunate thing for the Democracy. In 1908 Bryan received 244,092 votes and Taft 235,711. Therefore the Democratic decrease last Tuesday was approximately 28,000 and the Republican-Progressive decrease was approximately 25,000.

Though there was known disaffection in the Democratic ranks for some time after the defeat of Speaker Champ Clark by Governor Wilson for the nomination at Baltimore, it was believed by the Democratic leaders that the breach has been healed to such an extent that Campaign Chairman Johnson N. Camden last Saturday announced from headquarters in Louisville that his forecast was for a total vote of 465,000. He figured that Taft would be second man on the ticket and that he would get 116,000 votes. He did not forecast an estimate of the Roosevelt strength, but announced that the Democratic majority over Taft and Roosevelt would be 33,000.

Now the questions are: Who were the stay-at-home Democrats? What was the chief cause of the disaffection? Could they have been agriculturists undecided in their minds as to the safety of Wilson, and unwilling to vote for Taft, though believing in part the scare stuff that his campaign managers put out under the caption, "Back to Taft and Prosperity?"

Were they all so in the belief that William Jennings Bryan had swayed the Baltimore Convention to turn down Clark for Wilson? Was it that they were prejudiced against Wilson because of his reputed views on the subject of religion and immigration? If none of these causes, what was it that kept them at Frankfort?

The unofficial returns give the aggregate of the vote at approximately 441,705. Of these 215,867 are credited to Wilson, 169,526 to Taft, 101,372 to Roosevelt, and 15,000 to Debs, Chaifin and others. This shows a decrease of 48,922 in the total vote compared with that of the presidential election in 1908 which was 490,687, and an increase of only 6,149 over the total vote in the gubernatorial race of 1911, which was 455,616.

In 1908 Bryan's plurality over Taft in this state was 8,881, and in 1911 Governor Ve-creary, Democrat, carried the state by 31,335 over O'Rear, a Republican, with announced progressive views. The Wilson plurality over

Now, as to the Republican stay-at-homes, it is easy to attribute that to the feeling that there was no chance to win with Taft and a disinclination to vote for any other candidate.

The better showing in the aggregate made by Taft over Roosevelt is attributed chiefly to what might be called "distracted repartance" on the part of the Republicans, principally negroes, who had declared for Roosevelt and then could not get away from the habit of stamping their ballots in the circles under the log cabin.

But whatever it was all about, the fact remains that the Democratic managers in Kentucky have little to glorify them unless it be the realization of Chairman Camden's declaration for "100,000 plurality for Wilson," which appears to have been fully realized.

Her Smile

A country lad in the selfish city,
Aching with loneliness through and through,
You sent me a smile of cheer and pity
Straight from the beautiful heart of you.

Gray your hair and your eyes were weary,
But the smile on your sweet lips seemed to say:

"Courage, lad, though the world looks dreary,
Take heart of grace for another day."

Heartsick I was with bitter longing
For the old white house beneath the dear home skies.

For the vine-bounding eaves where the birds are thronging

And the porch where the morning-glories rise,

For the dear old room that is like no other

Where the clock is ticking the long hours through,

And the face at the window—oh, Mother,

How could I stay were it not for you?

But the younger boys were strong and steady,

And could take my place—so I came away—

And my brain is clear and my hands are ready,

And that debt must be lifted, come what may.

But to my loneliness lay my danger;

So, when you kneel at Our Father's feet,

Whisper a prayer for the gray-haired stranger

Who smiled at your boy on the city street,
